

It wasn't a case of the actress meeting just one bishop at Chelmsford's Civic Theatre on Monday night . . . there were 14 of them!

They are visiting the Chelmsford diocese from Africa and the West Indies as part of the Church of England's Partnership in Mission project.

It was a time for relaxation from matters spiritual when they went along to see Chelmsford Amateur Operatic Society's production of Gigi.

Judging by their smiles, both the cast and the bishops enjoyed their evening, but just what the actress actually said remains a closely guarded secret.
