

Full house for finale

FINAL performance of "Worm's Eye View" by the Chelmsford Amateur Operatic and Dramatic Society at the Regent Theatre, Chelmsford, on Saturday night was enjoyed by a full house, which gave the cast a great reception. The Saturday afternoon matinee performance, too, drew a large audience.

After the final curtain the President of the Society, Alderman A. W. Andrews, from the stage congratulated the players and producer upon another fine production, and thanked the public for their support. Many bouquets and other gifts were handed to the players from the stalls.

A donation from the week's takings is to be made to the Mayor's Flood Relief Fund.

Chairman of the Society, Mr. Fred. Kearsley, said yesterday: "We cannot tell yet what the financial result will be. I think it will be a near thing, and we are hoping the balance will be on the right side. Attendances during the week were not at all bad, although on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings the takings were not quite up to what we had hoped for."

The Society's next production in April will be "The Dancing Years."
